Life marches around the state may look different this year because of COVID-19 restrictions, but at least eight locations have planned to host life chains during "Stand for Life, Louisiana" on Jan. 23. Additionally, a program is planned that day in Baton Rouge prior to the start of the life chains.

BATON ROUGE, La. (LBM) - The 2021 Louisiana Life Marches have moved to a one-day socially distanced life chain event Jan. 23.

Originally, the life marches were scheduled to take place around the state over a three-week period in January and February, but novel coronavirus pandemic concerns caused organizers to alter the format for "Stand for Life, Louisiana."

Only the Baton Rouge event will include a program from 9-10 a.m. on the Capitol building steps and will feature messages, music and prayer that will be streamed live on the Louisiana Right to Life Facebook page. A lineup of speakers will be announced closer to the event date. Attendance will be limited to 500 people, who must register online at https://prolifelouisiana.org/louisiana-life-march-south/. Following the event in Baton Rouge, pro-life supporters will gather from 10:30 a.m. to noon at designated locations around the state:

association, which was given ownership of the campus, resisted offers to sell the facility, believing God would provide a church to continue ministry efforts at the former Cornerstone Baptist site. Then in July, Unity Baptist Church in Cotton Valley approached Hales with the idea of using the assets as a community ministry hub. Two months later, the location was brought back to life.

Since Unity Baptist launched the ministry center in September, they have hosted a prayer gathering, organized two food distribution events and invited an African-American congregation, formerly affiliated with the Methodist Church, to meet in the facility every Sunday.

Gene Gibson, pastor of Unity Baptist, said the community of 1,000 has embraced the effort.

"The community absolutely loves this," he said. "They have stopped by the church office to ask when the next food distribution will take place, but not because they are only wanting to be on the receiving end. They want to get involved whether by handing out food or giving money to this ministry. They are getting involved financially and with their time."

Hales said the former Cornerstone Baptist congregation is akin to the early New Testament congregations, who thrived in their early days, but, over time, disbanded. "All of us in reality are "All of us in reality are grandchildren of those parent congregations,' Hales said. "Congregations sometimes are like human lives. We have your youth period, we enter into an aged period and then we die as the community changes. While Cornerstone Baptist Church no longer occupies the property, their legacy lives on through another sister church in the same community.'

Gibson said prayer has been a catalyst for the success of the ministry center.

For more than a year, the Cornerstone Baptist congregation had prayed God would lead them to become a hub for community ministry. After several potential deals for the property fell through, God provided the new purpose for Cornerstone Baptist's facility.

The first event held at the repurposed facility was a Sept. 26 simulcast of the Return, a global prayer event held on the National Mall. More than 65 people from the community gathered inside, joining 3.8 million from 57 countries for the Internet broadcast.

"A little bit at a time people are beginning to realize we can all work together, no matter your race, age or where you are from," Gibson said.

"When we came together and prayed together I think that opened the door for things we haven't seen yet take place out of this community ministry center, for His glory."

IDUISIANANEWS ULM students now share Christ, not just room

By Brian Blackwell Message staff writer

MONROE, La. (LBM) – Matthew Hurst was a long-time skeptic of Christianity with little desire to follow the ways of the Lord when he met his roommate, Jonathan Jenkins, in August.

Soon afterward, the two University of Louisiana-Monroe students developed a friendship that God used to soften Hurst's heart to the Gospel. Through a series of spiritual conversations, Jenkins, a member of the Well Church in Monroe, answered Hurst's questions about Jesus, causing Hurst to become a fully devoted follower of Christ.

Hurst, along with three other new converts, shared about their transformations during a special baptism/one-year anniversary service attended by 51

"My hat goes off to everyone who gave up their time and resources to come out and help us out," Green said. "They were a great Godsend when we needed a helping hand."

Craig James, associational missions strategist for North Central Baptist Association, expressed his gratitude for the cooperative effort by the churches.

active as missionaries for the Lord in our own association," James said. "When we think about missions, most of the time we think of international missions or national missions. With Union Baptist Church, we see an opportunity for mission work at home. It is amazing to see the Lord at work through His Church. Ronnie Huckaby and Monty Huckaby have been a blessing from the Lord as they lead the project at Union. We pray the Lord bless Union Baptist Church in the days to come with spiritual and numerical growth."

Monty Huckaby, a member of Sweetwater Baptist Church, said he was honored to be a part of a team bringing help to a sister church.

'Some came with tool belts and others brought food fit for a king," Huckaby said. "We started each day the right way, with prayer led by Brother Mike Green who asked God's direction and protection as we worked. It truly is an honor that God allows us the opportunity to serve as just an extension of His hands. There remains much work to do and plenty of opportunities for those who wish to serve.

Moving forward, Green said additional work to be completed includes replacing the ceiling, light fixtures and bathrooms. He is confident God will continue to send more laborers to rebuild a church that will be a mighty lighthouse in the future to the community of Joyce.

"When Christians come together and begin to work as one, we receive a mighty blessing," Green said. "The Lord is going to send more people our way. If anyone wants to come, we would be more than happy to put them to work."

a month later had increased to 45. Throughout COVID-19, the church remained close knit. The newly formed congregation continued to meet for Bible study through Zoom, and, Pastor Larrese Rollins shared Sunday morning messages online.

Rollins said that because they had formed a culture of unity before their first meeting, worship attendance did not dramatically decrease when the new congregation resumed inperson meetings on June 14 with 33 people. Attendance has increased even more, reaching a high of 66 in November, but averaging 50 for most Sunday morning worship services.

He noted that the baptisms reflected a spirit of discipleship that his members have embraced.

"Just as it takes a village to raise a child, it takes a church to raise a Christian," Rollins said. "We collectively work to disciple one another and we encourage inviting others into the orbit of your life. Our church sees a lot of each other, sometimes up to four days here a week, and that helps to cultivate the reality of discipleship."

In addition to discipleship, members have developed a passion for evangelism.

As an outreach initiative, "Operation 7-11," the congregation has pledged to share the Gospel with the 7,000 people who live within a mile radius of the church during the next eleven months of 2021. Following Sunday morning services, a group of four members rotate each week and venture into the community for door-to-door evangelism.

While COVID-19 limited their efforts to 112 Gospel conversations in 2020, Rollins believes members are primed for a great spiritual harvest in 2021.

"The neighborhood we are serving is plagued by gun violence and we want to see that community restored spiritually, emotionally, economically and socially," Rollins said. "We start with the Gospel because it speaks to every part of the human condition."

Looking ahead to the next 11 months, Rollins is excited about meeting two goals set for the members: addressing the systemic needs of the community and equipping his members to do the work of holistic ministry.

'Churches can get in a slump by just allowing the professionals to do work of the church," he said. "However, we want to sacrifice professionalism for faithfulness. We need disciples of Jesus being faithful in the work Christ has called us to and that requires them to be equipped."

6 LOUISIANANEWS LC alum, wife aid students with scholarships, support LC with gift annuity PINEVILLE, LA (LBM) -- An act of generosity that began with a $100 scholarship for one Baton Rouge teenager has multiplied many times over during the last 60 years to affect countless young people at Louisiana College.

Don Hill, president of DMH & Associates, a company that provides consulting and marketing services to clients in the financial services industry, said that $100 was enough back in 1960 to tilt the scales for him, and he enrolled in Louisiana College to study math and business.

As a high school senior, Hill was given a $100 scholarship to attend Louisiana College, and that settled his college decision.

"My whole life has been God leading me," he said. "Louisiana College was the right spot for me." Since then, Hill, a 1964 summa cum laude LC graduate, with his wife Terry, have spent their lives giving back.

The Hills have been providing scholarships for five LC students each year for several years now through the Board of Visitors Scholarship Fund started by the school's president, Rick Brewer, in 2015. The Hills were founding members. They also have used various ways to give back to LC from cash donations--from donating appreciated stocks to making Qualified Charitable Distributions (QCD) from his IRA.

"After the age 70 1/2, you're mandated by the federal government to take a Required Mandatory Distribution out of your IRA account, a certain percentage each year, and it increases as you age," Hill explained. "It would be counted as taxable income approach, we do not pay taxes on the distribution because we don't actually receive the money." Most recently, the Hills gift annuity with LC as the beneficiary.

Jeff Steed, the executive director of the Louisiana Baptist Foundation, said gifts like the Hills's provide a two-fold benefit.

"Don and Terry Hill have established a charitable gift annuity that will provide retirement income to them and then benefit the tremendous work of Louisiana College to advance the cause of Christ by impacting the lives of many students," Steed said.

Brewer was thankful for the generosity and support from the Hills, who, he said, continuously put their money where their hearts are as Christians.

"Don and Terry Hill continue to lead the way for Louisiana College with support for Christian higher education now and into the future through this giving initiative," Brewer shared. "May their charitable gift annuity inspire scores of other Alums of the College to do the same -- the value associated with ensuring a Christ-centered education for future generations is inestimable."

Hill was honored in the fall of 2015 as a Louisiana College Distinguished Alumni. The plaque hangs in their living room in Dallas, Terry Hill said, adding that she is very proud of her husband of 53 years and believes LC played a big part in his early life.

"I see how he's turned out in business and in his personal life. LC is doing a great job. I am a little prejudiced," she said jokingly. "He's a good man. He's smart. I'm smarter, but he is pretty smart."

"Seriously," she added, "His going to LC and the atmosphere there was good for him, and that's been a blessing to both of us."

After all these years together, the Hills are still playful. Don Hill refers to his wife as his soulmate, hinting at their one mind, spiritually and financially.

"I've been very blessed with intellect and with everything I've tried to do," he said. "God has blessed me. I have received nice compensation, and I've never forgotten the value of my four years at LC."

Hill said he has tried to give back to the place that gave him his career start ever since he got his first real job—beginning with $1,000 annually to what was then called the President's Club. Once Brewer became president in 2015, and Hill saw the direction LC was going, he began to give in earnest.

"I knew he'd put the funds to good use," he said.

Hill recounted Brewer's request during a breakfast meeting in Dallas in which the college president told him the Student Government Association had made a request for additional campus lighting to improve safety on campus. "When he said SGA—back then—I said 'OK,'" Hill said.

I was president of SGA

He discussed it with his wife and told Brewer they would provide $50,000 for lighting and landscaping on campus."

"Dr. Brewer's quite persuasive," Hill said with a smile. "Seriously, though, we did hit it off from the first time we met. My wife liked him, and she doesn't necessarily like all the people I meet."

Terry Hill is completely supportive of her husband's philanthropic choices.

"Louisiana College is a good school," she said sweetly. "It did a very good job with my husband. If God helps you, and you can help other people, that's a good thing. It's your responsibility to give back when you can."

The Hills have also provided funding at LC for refurbishment of the restrooms in the H.O. West Lobby and the Athletic Facilities Campaign. They donated additional money for the computer science classroom in Cavanaugh Hall.

Don Hill, who furthered his education, earning a master's degree on a fellowship to Florida State University thanks to the encouragement and support of an LC professor, emphasized that the value of his time in college cannot be overestimated.

"Going to LC was the most important four-year period of my whole life," he emphasized, encouraging students to take advantage of the small class sizes, the involvement of professors and the extra curriculum activities LC offers -- because it makes a huge difference in the long run.

Hill has worked all over the country—beginning as a statistician for the federal government for the Public Health Service, then for IBM and ultimately becoming executive vice president of a national credit bureau as well as president of a bankruptcy services company.

"It was here at LC that my intellect was sharpened, my faith deepened, my leadership capabilities expanded, and my social skills enhanced," Hill said. It gave a lot to me, and I'm still trying to repay. I still have a long way to go."

"Call to Prayer" Jan. 31, 6 p.m., at Airline Baptist Church, Bossier City.

"Our churches will come together to ask God to create in me a clean heart, create in us a holy church, create in civil authorities righteousness and integrity, and create healing in those who are broken & hurting," Director of Missions Lane Moore told the Baptist Message.

Additionally, the Call to Prayer will include a special emphasis on health care workers. A nurse and physician from Willis-Knighton Health System in Shreveport/ Bossier City will share words of appreciation to the association, and participants will have an opportunity to express their gratitude for the dedication and hard work of health care workers throughout COVID-19.

While COVID-19 restrictions will prevent participants from gathering in small groups around the worship center, Moore said the spirit of prayer will be the same as previous Call to Prayer events.

"We have so much to pray for in this current time in which we live," Moore said. "Lord knows we need to be praying more than ever.

'Not long after last year's Call to Prayer, everyone's world turned upside down with CO-VID hitting in March," he continued. "2020 has not been the most thrilling year we had to look back on and everyone is emotionally frayed over the stress added to people's lives and the constant concern about being cautious and safe to avoid catching or spreading the virus. We need to come together as a family. This is a perfect time to do that.'

8 CULTURALNEWS Louisiana Right to Life: COVID-19 vaccines and abortion

By Will Hall

Message executive editor

NEW ORLEANS (LBM) – "We need 100 percent ethical options," Ben Clapper, executive director of Louisiana Right to Life, is urging Louisianans to demand of elected officials regarding COVID-19 vaccines as well as common immunizations.

Clapper issued the plea in a statewide electronic message addressing the ethical concerns in the development and testing of vaccines now being distributed to inoculate citizens against the novel coronavirus that originated in China and since March 2020 has claimed nearly 400,000 lives across the United States, including nearly 8,000 Louisianans, as of January 12, 2021.

'Tragically, for years, biological research has used cell lines derived from the fetal tissue of a few aborted babies in the 1960s and 70s to produce and test drugs and vaccines," Clapper said.

He added that the cells harvested from the aborted babies have been replicated indefinitely, and that no further abortions have been performed to procure these cells. But, he said, funding of research using the old abortion-derived cell line was allowed to continue.

"And because of that. we still face the issue of vaccines that have utilized the abortion-derived cell lines," Clapper explained.

According to the National Review (Dec. 20):

-- Neither the Pfizer nor the Moderna used the aborted fetal cell lines to develop a vaccine. However, both used the abortion-derived cell line in a later testing phase to check the potency of their respective vaccines.

-- AstraZeneca as well as Johnson & Johnson, who soon will be seeking approval of their vaccines, used the abortionderived cell line in both the production of their vaccines and in testing them.

-- Only one vaccine in the pipeline is known to be free of any ties whatsoever to embryonic stem cells. CureVac, a German biotech firm, has just begun Phase 3 clinical trials on a COVID-19 drug. However, at this time the company is focused only on the European market.

Clapper said the use of the abortion-related stem cell line "is not a new issue."

"For years, the same questions have faced us with other vaccines," he explained. "For example, the MMR + Chickenpox vaccine utilizes the abortion-derived cell lines in its production. There is still no alternative that does not use the cells, even though the pro-life movement has called for an option for years."

'Vaccines are important and have noble goals in eradicating diseases and illnesses such as COVID-19," Clapper continued. "But human life should never be sacrificed in that pursuit. For our part, we will continue to advocate for ethical research and against the use of biological materials derived from aborted children, whether in the past, present, or future."

Moore's tweet followed the riot and breakin at the Capitol by hundreds of attendees who were among 8,000 or so participants at a Trump rally, Jan. 6, in Washington, D.C.

The RNS described Moore as an "outspoken Never Trumper," referencing Moore's insult of Trump as an "arrogant reported that the SBC EC convention's news serhad set up another task force to assess the ERLC after public and private accusations that the ERLC was "not adequately fulfilling its Convention-approved ministry assignments." This group is set to release its findings next month.

Recently, the ERLC came under fire for a friend of the court brief it filed with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in McRaney v. North American Mission Board. In what is believed to be a first in the history of the ERLC, the SBC entity had to file a correction with the court due to claiming, originally, that the Southern Baptist Convention governs state conventions and churches.

As a follow up to his tweet, Moore sent out a Jan. 10 newsletter to declare he was not going to crow "I told you so" about Trump, and, to give his perspective on what should be done. now:

Convention," Williams wrote.

"Pastor Mike Stone is a trusted leader among Georgia Baptists and I believe he is the kind of experienced pastor and statesman Southern Baptists need.'

"The Lord has blessed Emmanuel Baptist with great growth. Yet it is not so large that Pastor Mike cannot relate to the everyday challenges of our pastors and churches. The experience Pastor Mike has helping to lead our state and nearly 25 years serving one of our strongest Georgia Baptist churches have prepared him for this new assignment." Williams added.

CANDIDATE'S RESPONSE

Stone told the Baptist Message he was "very excited about the possibility of serving Southern Baptists in this way."

'I was not seeking this out, but the Lord laid it on my heart, which was confirmed when some SBC leaders approached me," he said.

He also shared three priorities he would like to see the SBC adopt and fervently support.

"We need a focus on evangelism – not on another strategy or slogan, but actually doing evangelism," Stone emphasized. "I would like to lead us to train Southern Baptists in how to share the Gospel, resource them, and then initiate wave evangelism – a unison of efforts -across the nation. We're very diverse, and soulwinning is the one thing I believe that will unite us. There are enough different evangelistic events to fit the needs of any size and type of congregation or group of churches." "I also want to champion the sufficiency of Scripture," Stone continued. "It is a doctrine Southern Baptists have long held, but recently there are uncertain sounds about this issue that are originating in many corners of the Convention.

'Finally, within these emphases, I want to foster greater involvement of grassroots Southern Baptists. We acknowledge ecclesiastically that we are not a top-down hierarchy," Stone said. "However, increasingly, we are being led by smaller and smaller groups of decision makers.

'We have always been at our best when we promote broad cooperation in shaping the direction of the Convention. We are better led by pastors and members of a local church – after all we are a convention of churches not entities."

BY THE NUMBERS

The Christian Index provided background on Stone's service with a local church, the Georgia Baptist Convention and the Southern Baptist Convention:

-- Stone has served Emmanuel Baptist Church since 1996; after five years on staff, he was unanimously elected pastor in 2002.

-- In a rural South Georgia town of fewer than 4,000 people, under Stone's leadership the congregation nearly doubled in worship attendance to a pre-COV-ID average of more than 1,000 in attendance.

-- During his tenure, the church has averaged 63 baptisms per year through an emphasis on personal soul-winning.

-- Stone also has led his church to give strong support to cooperative ministries and missions, contributing more than $2.5 million through the Cooperative Program (which translates to 10 percent of undesignated receipts in 2020, $226,097 of $2.1 million, and a 25-year average of 9 percent).

-- Emmanuel has been the leading contributor to the Piedmont-Okefenokee Association each year of Stone's pastorate.

-- He is the immediate past chairman of the SBC Executive Committee, having served on the search committee that called Ronnie Floyd as president.

-- Stone was elected president of the Georgia Baptist Convention, 2017-2018; and, he served as chairman of the Georgia Baptist Mission Board executive committee, helping lead one of the largest state conventions in the SBC family.

FINAL THOUGHTS

Williams said he "could not be more excited" to share the news.

"Please join me in praying for Pastor Mike Stone and his wife, Andrea," he concluded, urging Southern Baptists to "make your plans to be at the SBC Annual Meeting in Nashville."

The Texan, news service of the Southern Baptists of Texas Convention, published Oct. 23, 2020, that R. Albert Mohler Jr., president of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, has announced that he will be nominated for SBC president. According to the Texan, Mohler previously shared his willingness to be nominated in Orlando in 2020, but that annual meeting was cancelled because of the novel coronavirus pandemic.

Scripture Crypto

The Scripture Crypto is a Bible verse in which one letter has been substituted for another, thus encoding the verse. To find out what the verse is, you must determine what each letter is a substitute for. An "a," for example, may stand for a "t" in this week's issue of the ScriptureCrypto. Next week, "a" could stand for a "d." Each week, each letter is different. Solve by trial and error. The answer will be given next week. Note: All numerals, such as those in the scripture reference after the verse, are spelled out.

2020 END-OF-YEAR Cooperative Program Giving Report

HOW YOUR GENEROSITY I M P A C T E D

LouisianaBaptists.org/CP

GRATEFUL

I have good news – 2020 is finally behind us! It was certainly a year none of us expected.

On the second Sunday of 2020, I had the opportunity to preach at FBC, Arcadia. Since it was the beginning of the year, I felt led to preach on "Facing an Uncertain Future." I began by posing the reality that every year, and every day for that matter, brings its own set of uncertainties. I continued by saying this year had the potential to be a difficult year. It turns out my introduction was accurate, but woefully short of all of the challenges 2020 brought us.

However, in the midst of all the challenges, God still provided – as He always does.

This report reflects your faithfulness to our cooperative missions and ministries in 2020. While many made dire financial predictions, you continued to give and God continued to work. Scattered through this report you'll find examples of how God used your gifts. As you review these, let me encourage you to pause, give thanks and ask God to do even more in 2021 as we move through, and prayerfully past, this pandemic.

If 2020 accomplished anything, it reminded me of God's faithfulness and the resiliency of Louisiana Baptists and for that, I am grateful.

"Give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus," 1 Thessalonians 5:18 (NIV)

Dr. Steve Horn

Executive Director, Louisiana Baptists

Here for You,

our multi-media outreach strategy, proved we may have been confined, but we were not contained. During the pandemic, you seeded God's truth in 95% of TV households across the state and over 1,270 people indicated a decision for Christ through our partnership with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.
